Kaplan Business School - Masters of Professional Accounting

“Flexibility and choice. These two features were the key reasons why I undertook the Masters of Applied Finance with Kaplan.

The delivery of the Masters course was very flexible and allowed me to balance the requirements of my job in the finance industry with my study commitments. The introduction of trimesters allowed me to complete the course in a shorter time frame than I had initially anticipated which helped me contribute more in my role sooner. There were also a variety of ways I could interact with lecturers, fellow students and Kaplan through the online lectures, discussion boards, study groups, student services and subject rooms.

The Masters course also provided me with choice. There were several streams to choose from. However, I elected to select specific subjects that were of interest to me across multiple streams such as Investment Management and Financial Markets. The ability to choose from many elective subjects differentiated the Kaplan Masters from other postgraduate courses offered in the industry. It also meant that I had a higher chance of success by having the opportunity to select subjects I wanted to study.”
